

Expense and Reimbursement Policy

Document owner: Finance • Last updated: 2025-10-20 • Supersedes: rev 8 (2025-04-02)

Nordvane operates on a principle of stated trust. Anything you would be comfortable explaining in a public Slack channel is almost certainly fine; anything you would rather explain privately is almost certainly not. This is not a rhetorical device, it is the actual test finance applies when reviewing a claim, and it resolves the overwhelming majority of cases without anyone needing to consult this document. Receipts are required for every claim regardless of amount, and a card statement line is not a receipt.

Approval thresholds

Approval is required before the purchase, not after it. A claim submitted for an unapproved purchase above the threshold is not automatically rejected, but it does require a written explanation and it is visible to finance as an exception. Splitting a single purchase into smaller claims in order to remain below a threshold is treated as a policy violation rather than as a rounding decision, and this has happened twice.

Amount	Approval required	When	Notes
Under 200 EUR	None	—	Receipt still required
200 – 1,000 EUR	Direct manager	Before purchase, in the expense tool	Written approval, not verbal
Over 1,000 EUR	Direct manager and Finance	Before purchase	Finance may request quotes
Any amount, recurring	Direct manager and Finance	Before first payment	Added to the vendor register

Table 1. Purchase approval thresholds.

Hardware

Hardware is budgeted separately from general expenses and does not consume the thresholds above. Each employee has a hardware allowance of 2,000 euros refreshed every three years. Unused allowance does not carry over and cannot be converted to anything else. Replacement of damaged or stolen equipment is handled outside the allowance entirely and requires a short written note to operations describing what happened; there is no investigation attached to this and the note exists for insurance rather than for judgement.

Travel

Travel is booked by the employee rather than through a central agency, with the exception of company offsites, which people operations book centrally. There is no per diem. Meals while travelling are reimbursed against receipts up to 60 euros per day, and alcohol is reimbursable only as part of a meal with a customer or colleague.

Category	Limit	Condition
Flights under 6 hours	Economy	Any fare class within economy, including flexible
Flights over 6 hours	Premium economy	Business class requires Finance approval in advance
Hotels, Western Europe and North America	180 EUR per night	Excluding city tax
Hotels, elsewhere	120 EUR per night	Excluding city tax
Meals while travelling	60 EUR per day	Against receipts; no per diem
Ground transport	Actual cost	Taxis acceptable; no justification needed

*Table 2. Travel limits.What is not reimbursed

Home internet, home electricity, and home office rent are not reimbursed, on the reasoning that the coworking stipend already addresses the cost of somewhere to work and that partial reimbursement of domestic bills creates an administrative burden out of all proportion to the sums involved. Coworking is reimbursed monthly on submission of an invoice, and the stipend amount is set in the remote work policy rather than here. Conference tickets are reimbursed in full where the employee agrees to write an internal summary within two weeks of returning; the summary is expected to be honest, and a summary concluding that the conference was not worth attending is a perfectly acceptable outcome.

Reimbursements are paid with the following month's payroll. Claims submitted after the 25th of a month roll into the subsequent cycle, so a claim filed on the 26th of March is paid at the end of May rather than April. Claims older than 90 days are not accepted without a written explanation to finance, which is granted routinely for genuine oversights and is refused where the delay is habitual.